Commitment to uphold the publication ethics and introducing the connector author

The authors of this article,

Title:

Code:

Hereby, declare their intention to submit the article to the Health Education and Health Promotion. It is affirmed that this article was not concurrently under consideration by any other journals during the time of its submission to the Health Education and Health Promotion. The authors also commit to refrain from submitting this article to any other journals until a final decision has been reached by the Health Education and Health Promotion. Furthermore, the individual who is one of the authors and submitted the article on the journal's website, shall be referred to as the connector. The connector author, Mr./Mrs. _____, will be responsible for all correspondence and inquiries pertaining to this article at the Health Education and Health Promotion.

Note 1: The journal only acknowledges the submitter of the article (connector author) as the sole legal entity vested with the requisite authority to pursue any subsequent actions pertaining to the article.

Transfer of publishing rights to the academic journal

The authors hereby grant the Health Education and Health Promotion full publishing rights for this article, excluding its content. The journal is authorized to publish the article in various formats, including print, online, compact disc, and international and domestic profiles. Any potential benefits resulting from the publication shall be attributed to the journal. The revocation of publishing rights for the journal in question will occur solely through the rejection of this article's publication or the withdrawal of author cooperation prior to the final decision on the article's status.

Note 2. Once an article has been definitively accepted for publication, it is not permissible to withdraw it under any circumstances. In the occasions that authors persist in requesting withdrawal, the journal will adhere to international publication ethics guidelines by notifying the authors' affiliated institution or educational establishment of the violation. Additionally, other collaborating journals will be duly informed of the violation.

Note 3. The journal explicitly highlights that the authors retain the copyrights of the article, with the exception of the publishing right, regardless of the circumstances.

In accordance with established publication ethics guidelines, it is necessary to disclose any potential conflicts of interest. Should it be discovered at any point during the review, revision, editing, or even after the publication of the article that the information provided in this section is false, appropriate actions will be taken. These actions may include removing the article from the website, publicly disclosing the authors' affiliations and educational backgrounds, informing other collaborating journals about the issue, and blacklisting the authors.

If this article is derived from a scholarly work such as a thesis, dissertation, or research plan, please provide the relevant details of the source (exact title; names of all contributors; place of registration and approval):

The correct and comprehensive documentation of the expenses underlying the findings presented in this paper is:

It is imperative to explicitly disclose any potential conflicts of interest among the various entities involved in the creation of this work, including financial sponsors, scientific backers, and writers. Failure to disclose such conflicts or deliberately concealing them would be indistinguishable from making false statements:

Introducing the article authors and their order and contribution

The authors of this article, as indicated below, acknowledge that the names, information, and order of authorship are fixed and cannot be altered (no authors will be added or removed). We affirm that all authors have collaborated in conducting the research and generating this article, and no author's name has been included without their active participation in its creation. The author number [] is introduced as the correspondent of the article.

Correspondent email:

Note 4. The corresponding author does not possess any function or authority in the evaluation process of the paper, and the journal alone responds to the submitter (connecting author).

Note 5: In the occasions that it becomes necessary to designate the corresponding author as the connector, the article must be submitted through the correspondent author's account.

¹ Each individual's name should be written in its whole and in the format that is appropriate for inclusion in the article.

² The abbreviation for the highest academic degree held should be provided (e.g., PhD, MSc, MD, etc.).

³ The correct format for entering the affiliation of each author is as follows: "department, faculty or research center, university or research institute, city, country."

⁴ Each person can only have one affiliation submitted, unless many departments belong to the same affiliation.

⁵ It is imperative to incorporate the delineation of the respective roles assumed by each author in the process of conducting research and composing the essay. It is imperative that all articles incorporate the following components:

- a) The methodologist, who is responsible for designing the research, has contributed to the methodological section of the piece through their efforts.
- b) The main or assistant researcher (individuals accountable for executing the research and collecting data)
- c) The individual responsible for crafting the first section of the piece is referred to as the introduction writer.
- d) The individual responsible for the analysis of the data presented in the article, as well as the formulation of the findings section, is the data analyst.
- e) The discussion author, who was tasked with composing the discussion section of the article, is the individual under consideration.
- f) Roles such as professor, student, guide, consultant, correspondent, and others are not relevant to the creation of the article and should not be included in any form. Forms that contain these items will be rejected.

⁶ It is necessary to document the proportion of the authors' involvement, with the overall sum of the authors' contributions amounting to 100%.

⁷ Add digital signature or its image.
